Relationships: Why? And Why Not?

RELATIONS WITH MEN OR WOMEN

1. The Sun, his power and harmony determine the type of relationship one has with men.
2. The Moon, her power and harmony determines one's general relationships with women.

AFFECTIONS

1. The prominence of Venus in a chart indicates the importance of affections.
2. The relative harmony or discord of Venus determines the level of satisfaction received through the affections.
3. The house position of Venus determines the environment through which we seek to find love.

LOVE AFFAIRS

1. Love affairs whether they result in marriage or not are ruled by the 5th house.
2. Planets ruling the 5th house determine the thoughts, feelings and experiences attracted through love-making.

PARTNERSHIP (Marriage)

1. The 7th house with its power, harmony or discord determines in general the kind of partners that are attracted into the life.
2. The 7th house ruler and its aspects determine how the partner will affect the life.

WHEN TO MARRY

1. Look for harmonious progressed aspects to Venus and/or the 7th house ruler.
2. In a man's chart look for harmonious progressed aspects to the Moon.
3. In a woman's chart look for harmonious progressed aspects to the Sun.

WHEN COMPARING CHARTS

1. Note the Power and Harmony of each persons chart. (I use Astrodynes and note the top 3 powers)
2. Place person A's planets in the outer wheel of person B's chart and vice versa.
3. Note the areas of departmental influence (houses) between each chart. House influence indicates the nature of the relationship.
4. Note the number and nature of any planets within 1 degree orb of aspect between the charts.

Relationships: Why? And Why Not?

ASTRODYNE COMPARISON: IDENTIFYING COMPATIBILITY

In the row designated “Person A,” write the top three most powerful planets, houses, and signs. Do the same for “Person B.” If the most dominant planet is the ASC or MC, list that, but also list the most powerful planet as well.

Name	Planets	Houses	Signs
Person A
Person B

Astrological compatibility operates on the premise that we are attracted to, and remain attracted to those persons with whom we share similarities. We can also be attracted to, but find difficulty in remaining attracted to those persons with whom we have great dissimilarities.

Dominant planets reveal the dominant temperament of an individual, and the most powerful urges operating in that individual’s consciousness. When those urges are similar we find the other person easy to be around. For example, two persons with Neptune prominent, might find comfort in one another’s dreamy, visionary and intuitive mode of expression. Pair either of them up with someone who has Mercury prominent and they might find him or her overly-analytical or rational. And even though they are natural antidotes, a social butterfly with a prominent Venus might, over time, feel held back by a stay-at-home partner with a prominent Saturn.

Looking at the dominant houses indicates the areas where an individual focuses his or her interests. When those dominant houses are shared they can indicate areas of shared interest i.e., persons with dominant 1st Houses might share an interest in hiking or going to the gym together. If both charts have the 9th House prominent, the couple might enjoy sharing long-distant travel or philosophical pursuits.

The Signs of the Zodiac operate somewhere between the planets and the Houses. Like the Planets, shared dominant Signs can show temperamental similarities based on the Elements (Fire, Earth, Air and Water). Like the houses they can indicate shared areas of interest i.e., two persons with dominant Sagittarius might also enjoy sharing long-distant travel, philosophical pursuits, or a love of the great outdoors.

Relationships: Why? And Why Not?

The universal concept that pleasure is attractive and pain is repellant holds true in astrological chart comparison. The aspects between charts indicate the idiosyncrasies between individuals as well as the painful or pleasurable conditioning (attraction or repulsion) felt between two persons.

ASPECT	DEGREE	FORMED BY	EXPRESSION	KEYWORD	EXPRESSION	NATURE
CONJUNCTION ♌	0°	Two planets in the same sign	Potent Intense Powerful	Prominence	Intense attraction – points of soul connection	Strongly neutral
SEMI-SEXTILE ∨	30°	Two planets 1 sign apart	Adaptable Gentle Pleasant	Growth	Comfort – ease in companionship	Mildly harmonious
SEMI-SQUARE ∠	45°	Two planets 1 1/2 signs apart	Uncertain Worrisome Annoying	Friction	Annoyance – mild irritability	Mildly discordant
SEXTILE ✱	60°	Two planets 2 signs apart	Beneficial Creative Inspiration	Opportunity	Like-minded – similar in temperament	Moderately harmonious
SQUARE □	90°	Two planets 3 signs apart	Dynamic Difficult Destructive	Obstacle	Mismatched- difficulty in getting along	Strongly discordant
TRINE △	120°	Two planets 4 signs apart	Ease Ability Favorable	Luck	Complimentary – intensely compatible	Strongly harmonious
SESQUI-SQUARE ◻	135°	Two planets 4 1/2 signs apart	Restless Irritable Discontent	Agitation	Aggravating – moderately frustrating	Mildly discordant
INCONJUNCT ∟	150°	Two planets 5 signs apart	Independent Convertible Increasing	Expansion	Mildly interesting	Mild neutrality
OPPOSITION ⊙	180°	Two planets 6 signs apart	Polarizing Attraction Repulsion	Separation	Compelling and repelling	Strongly discordant
PARALLEL 	0° declination	Two planets in the same degree N. or S. declination	Slow Pervasive Independent	Intensity	Undefined commonality	Strongly neutral

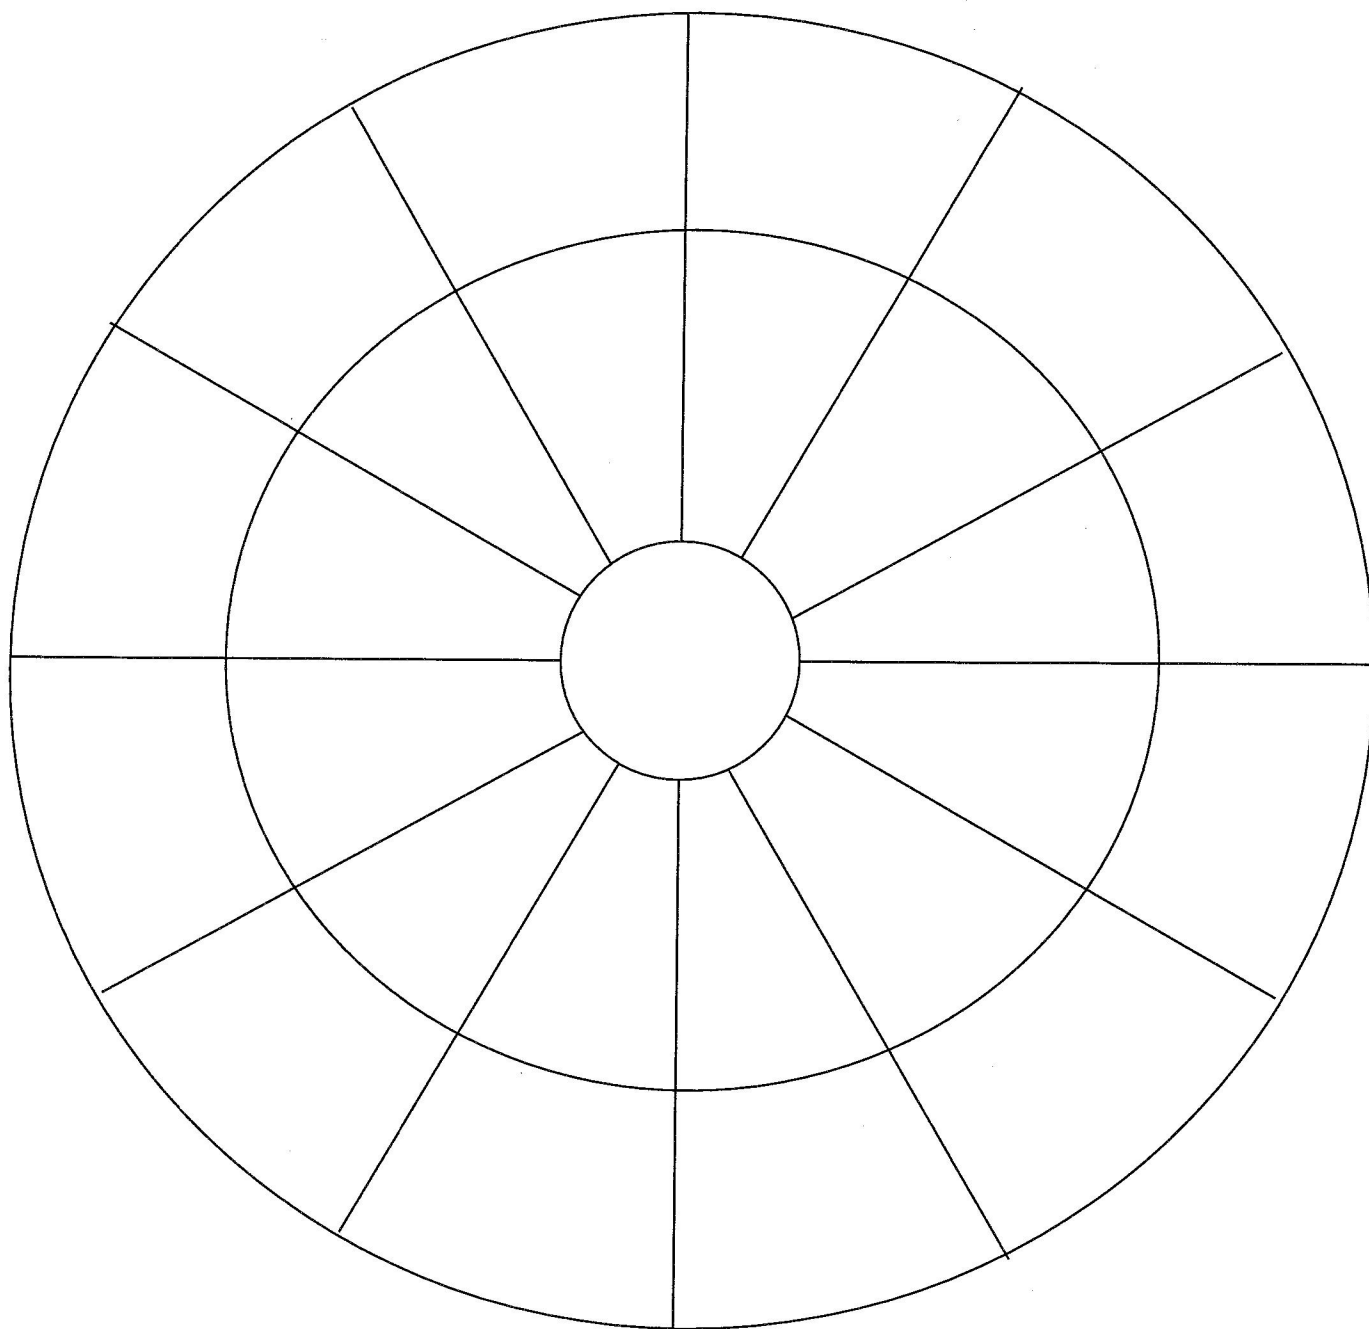

Conjunction aspects between two charts indicate areas of powerful soul-connection. Oppositions and Squares are often described as irreconcilable differences. Trines and Sextiles show potential joy in one another's company. Semi-squares and Sesqui-squares are the minor irritants that can erode a relationship over time. Parallel aspects often indicate a non-specific affinity that amplifies the volume in a relationship.
